HUMMEL TELLS COURT OF RED WALLACE FANS

3 Communists Named in List of Secretary of State Given To Ohio Tribunal.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 11—Secretary of State Edward J Hummel told the Ohio supreme court today that three of Henry A. Wallace's campaigners in Ohio were Communists

The secretary of state who has barred the presidential candidate from the Ohio ballot, listed them as

Nathan R Zahm administrative director of the Wallace-for-president committee Elsie Zarrivy and David I Sindell, an attorney, all of Cleveland

They were among ten persons who signed affidavits, required by law stating that they had no connection with subversive organizations said Leland S Dougan, assistant secretary of state

Secretary Hummel in a document filed with the supreme court, said that Zahm, Zarrivy and Sindell were found to be Communists in an investigation conducted by George S Houston, chief investigator of the secretary of state.

Filing Answers Demand

The secretary of state filed portions of investigator Houston's report with the supreme court in answer to a demand from the Wallace supporters, who wanted to know why they were barred from the ballot.

Hummel barred the Wallace ticket under a law enacted in 1941, which was designed to keep from the ballot "parties, or groups engaged in un-American activities"

The Wallace-for-president group yesterday asked the supreme court to compel Secretary of State Hummel to accept their nominating petitions and put them on the ballot The court instructed Hummel either to comply with the request or show cause by June 26 why he should not

Houston's descriptions of the alleged Communists said

Zahm—Member of Communist party, former director of the progressive citizens committee "Zahm is the brains behind this setup but is not the top Communist in the Cleveland area"

Sindell—Member of Communist party, "ran for state representative in 1946 and was endorsed by the Communist progressive citizens' committee"

Mrs Zarrivy — Member Communist party, Lakewood branch, her husband Paul and her brother Herbert Wright also members since 1940 "all active members"

Assistant Secretary of State Dougan said that Zahm notarized the so-called non-Communist affidavits.

Gives Data On Others

Investigator Houston also had this to say about others among the ten who signed the affidavits

Leonard H Hinds of Shaker Heights — "Attends Communist party rallies, also meetings of young Communist league at Cleveland Public hall." Attended first meeting March 2, 1943

SIRENS, SHOTS USHER IN PALESTINE TRUCE

By The Associated Press

Uneasy peace came to Palestine today to the accompaniment of wailing air raid sirens in Tel Aviv and gun bursts in Jerusalem

The four-week armistice and arms embargo became effective at 1 a m EST During the truce Count Folke Bernadotte, UN mediator, will seek to resolve the great issue of partition

The Jews said the cease fire generally was observed several hours before the deadline They announced a last minute bombing of Damascus. The Syrians said nine bombs, mostly incendiary were dropped, causing no casualties and little damage

The heaviest last minute fighting was around Latrun where the Arabs block the main Tel Aviv-Jerusalem supply road The Israelis claimed "important successes" there

The Arab legion of Transjordan said the Jews broke the truce in Jerusalem within an hour, kicking an Arab soldier Random shooting echoed in the Holy City for six minutes after the armistice hour Jewish mortars drummed the Arabs there for 70 minutes before the truce A Jerusalem dispatch said a Christian church and Arab hospital were damaged.

Great Britain announced she would not recognize Israel during the truce A spokesman said such recognition would be "a positive act of intervention" favoring one side.

DRAFT GIVEN "MUST" STAMP

GOP House Leaders Call for Enactment After Senate Passes Bill.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 11 — House Republican leaders stamped an emphatic "must" today on enactment of a peacetime draft law next week

Encouraged by the whopping 78-to-10 vote the senate gave its selective service revival bill, house supporters were confident of sending a finished measure to President Truman before adjournment.

Speaker Martin (R-Mass) told reporters the house bill will be called to the floor Tuesday or Wednesday He predicted it will pass with only one day of debate This would contrast with six days and three nights of senate oratory

House rules chairman Leo E. Allen (R-Ill) said his committee will meet Monday to vote the house measure "up or down" The bill has been awaiting rules committee clearance since May 7.

With adjournment tentatively set for a week from Saturday, the bill cannot be debated in the house unless the rules committee approves.

Both Virtually Identical

There are no fundamental differences between the senate and house bills, but some provisions will have to be compromised

Both bills would expire in two years, and both would require two years of military service for enough men from 19 through 25 to bring the armed forces up to full authorized strength.

Amendments voted during senate debate cut the life of that bill from five years to two, tacked on a house-approved measure requiring the court martial systems of the Army and Air Force and outlawed the poll tax as a requirement for voting by men inducted under the bill

The senate also voted to allow recruiting of 25,000 aliens in a "foreign legion" and to reward them with citizenship if their service is satisfactory There is no similar provision in the house bill

The senate turned down a "pull the trigger" feature of the house measure which would require the President to start actual drafting —after a 90-day wait—by proclaiming that the armed services could not get enough men any other way

OPPENHEIMER HELD ON LIQUOR BRIBE CHARGES

Franklin Co. Grand Jury Indicts 2 Others with State Permit Examiner.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS O June 11—Indictments charging soliciting and accepting bribes were returned yesterday against A E Oppenheimer, chief permit examiner of the state liquor department

Named with Oppenheimer in one of two bills was Hugh M Ruel of Portsmouth, chairman of the Scioto county Republican executive committee and a Taft delegate to the GOP national convention

A third party to the two indictments was Tracy Pack of Portsmouth, a cab line operator

The Franklin county grand jury, pausing in a weeks-old investigation of the liquor department issued the indictments

Oppenheimer, Ruel and Pack will be arraigned on or before June 21, the date set by Franklin County Criminal Judge John R King

Indictment Charges

In one indictment, Oppenheimer was accused of

(1) Soliciting and accepting a bribe of $300 from Howard McCall Springfield tavern operator, Nov 25, 1947

(2) Soliciting a bribe of $2 300 from Gilbert Shively of London O who with his wife operates the Shively hotel.

In a second indictment Oppenheimer, Ruel and Pack were accused of

(1) Soliciting $1 500 from Shively Feb 18, 1948

(2) Soliciting $1 000 from Shively the next day, Feb. 20.

Statement by Herbert

Gov Thomas J Herbert said of Oppenheimer's indictment.

"It still remains for Oppenheimer to be convicted or acquitted.

"In either event I will not cry that I have been betrayed"

(The governor undoubtedly, in his reference to "betrayed," was recalling his predecessor, Frank J Lausche When the liquor department in his administration was touched by evidence of scandal, Lausche said 'I have been betrayed (by persons in whom I placed trust.")

Prosecutor Ralph J Bartlett, announcing the indictments said he would divulge no details of the evidence obtained in more than six weks of grand jury investigation

"These indictments" he said, "by no means close the liquor probe "In the next three weeks we will be involved in murder trials and must devote our time to them We will pick up the investigation later"

None of the principals in the indictments has been arrested

Several weeks ago McCall informed the state liquor director that he gave Oppenheimer $300 to speed up issuance of a D-5 night club liquor permit. Oppenheimer denied this accusation

Shively also said he was summoned to a room at the Deshler-Wallick hotel and asked $2,300 to speed up a permit The room into which Shively said he went was in Oppenheimer's name The permit chief denied seeing Shively there

McCall received a permit Shively has not

Director Dunifon Testifies

The indictments topped a day in which the grand jury heard testimony from four state liquor department officials, including State Liquor Director Dale Dunifon.

Prosecutor Bartlett said Dunifon was asked to explain operations of the liquor department Dunifon was in the grand jury room 65 minutes

Other liquor officials summoned

WANTS U.S. IN DEFENSE PACTS

Vandenberg Calls on Senate To OK Stronger Foreign Policy Plan.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 11—Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) urged the senate today to help "organize the peace" so this country won't have to use force to help keep the world on an even keel

Vandenberg asked quick approval of a resolution paving the way for American political and military support to European nations joining hands against possible Communist aggression

He is chairman of the senate foreign relations committee which studies the resolution sitting for strengthening of United Nations procedures. He said its adoption would show the senate has not lost sight of the peace problem in voting to draft young men for military service

"It is necessary to make it plain that we are not preoccupied with bombs and bayonets," Vandenberg said

He called the resolution "a sound answer to several critical necessities of foreign policy" He added that it "offers new hope for security and peace for us and for others under the United Nations."

Up for senate action was his far-reaching foreign policy resolution, which if adopted, would serve advance notice on the world that the treaty-making chamber favors these steps within the United Nations to safeguard world peace

1 United States participation in regional defense pacts like the five-nation Brussels agreement

2 Establishment of a United Nations armed force, as provided by the charter, to back up peace orders

3 Universal regulation and reduction of armaments "under adequate and dependable guaranty against violation" This presumably would cover the American plan for international control of atomic weapons.

4 Elimination of the security council veto from all questions dealing with peaceful settlements of international disputes and also from admission of new members

The resolution, unanimously approved by the foreign relations committee, would have no binding effect.

WATERS SPILL OVER DIKE IN PORTLAND

By The Associated Press

PORTLAND, Ore., June 11—The flooding Columbia river broke through another dike on Portland's outskirts today and raced over a rich lowland area extending 10 miles to the east.

Doomed were the Portland airport four golf and country clubs, a lakeside resort and homes for several thousand persons.

All residents were ordered evacuated days ago, but the sheriff's office feared some might have returned

The airport siren sounded a warning when the break came in the early morning The fire department at Troutdale, a small community on high ground east of Portland also wailed a warning to any returnees Eight sheriff's cars raced over roads ahead of the water with sirens going.

Army engineers pulled out all troops and dike workers.

The sheriff's office said the warnings would have given anyone in the area time to escape ahead of the flood

Army engineers said they would attempt to hold an intermediary dike, 10 miles to the east, protecting the $43,000,000 Reynolds company aluminum plant.

Meanwhile, the highest waters of the flood rolled toward the Portland area.

MAN, TWO WOMEN SHOT SIX TIMES IN SUDDEN GUNFIRE

Three persons, one man and two women, were wounded, one of them critically, in a shooting affray last night at 903 Maynard Drive on Marion's residential southwest side. A local man, divorced husband of one of the wounded women is being held in city prison today for investigation before charges are filed against him for the shooting.

The wounded are Mrs Lenore Irvine, 37, of 903 Maynard drive, her foster mother Mrs Alice Beck, 58, of the same address, and Carl Bice of Marysville, friend of Mrs. Irvine.

Ex-Husband Is Held

Dwight Kenneth Matthews, 34, of 233 Ballentine avenue is in city prison today under investigation for the shooting. He was divorced from Mrs. Irvine a few weeks ago.

Police headquarters received a call at 9:18 p. m. last night about a shooting at 903 Maynard Drive. At that address police found the two women, each shot in the abdomen and Bice shot in the arm at the home of Mr. and Mrs Clarence Beck, 903 Maynard Drive.

Chief W. E. Marks said Mr. Beck accused his former son-in-law. All three of the injured persons were rushed to city hospital in ambulances.

Chief Marks said investigation at the scene revealed

Matthews came to the Beck home shortly after 9 o'clock last night. Mrs Irvine went outside and talked with him While talking her assailant suddenly pulled a gun and opened fire Wounded, Mrs Irvine called for help Mrs. Beck and Carl Bice came to the front door and upon seeing them Matthews allegedly shot through the screen door and hit Mrs Beck three times in the abdomen and shot Bice in the arm. Then he walked or ran away

A 22 caliber pistol, believed to have been used in the shooting was found at noon today along a dead siding of the Pennsylvania railroad along Bellefontaine avenue The discovery was made by Capt Ora De Weese and Patrolman E. G. McClanahan of the city police department. One cartridge was found in the chamber of the gun upon its discovery Finding of the gun ended a 12 hour search for the weapon by the entire third shift of city police.

An eye-witness account of the various incidents of the shootings was given this morning by Mrs. A. L. Yocum of 899 Maynard drive, a neighbor living directly across the street from the Beck home Portions of the action were also seen by A. L. Yocum, her husband who ran to the front of his house after hearing the first shot.

Neighbor's Account

Mrs. Yocum's account is as follows

"I was sitting on my front porch sometime between 8:30 and 9 p m. when I saw a man in a white shirt come down the sidewalk opposite my house from the direction of Sheridan road. I noticed him because he seemed to be hunting someone. He walked by the Beck house and went around past the shrubbery on the south de of the house While he was out past the shrubbery a car drove up in front of the house with a Marysville license and a man and a woman got out and went into the Beck house. The car was facing south too for it came in from the direction of Sheridan road.

"After the man and woman went in the house this big fellow in the light shirt came back up the sidewalk to the front of the house. He had been watching them get out of the car and enter the house After he got to the front of the house he went back along the south side of the house then walked around and sat on the front porch steps for a few minutes In a little while the young woman came out the front door and talked for two or three minutes (Mrs. Yocum could not hear any conversation between the two people) After she talked to him a while she backed away a few feet and I saw two pistol flashes and heard the shots She didn't fall after the shots The man then walked over to the center of the street away from her and then turned and came back to her.

"She held her side and didn't fall after the shots and for just a little while she made no noise I could see She then turned and called for those inside to call the police. She shouted loudly and I could hear her plainly. The man she came with and Mrs. Beck came to the door in answer to her calls. The man who had shot her had returned to her side by then after starting to leave and he shot through the screen door I heard four shots then and saw the flashes of fire from the gun. The man then walked to the middle of the street again, then back to the woman he first shot, he might have kissed her, then he walked off through our driveway He didn't seem to be in much of a hurry until he started by our house. He cut across Moore's back yard (Walter Moore, Marion attorney) and disappeared. I never did see the gun for the light was none too good.

"Four holes the size of bullet holes remain in the screen door of the Beck home.

A. L. Yocum's account of the action is as follows "I was in the front room of my home when I heard the first two shots which were close together. I saw through the window that this man and woman were standing in the front yard and I thought it must be some kids with some firecrackers. He started to walk away and she was just standing there She began to shout toward her house to call the police so I started for the front door in time to hear four or five more shots.

"I saw him turn and walk away from her toward the middle of the street He returned to her side once more and he raise his hand to her face it seemed, then turned and walked across the street and down our driveway and through Moore's back yard. He wasn't walking very fast but seemed to speed up a little when he got to Moore's. They weren't home so I don't suppose anyone over there noticed him."

Thinks Str' Firecrackers

Mrs. Willard B Henney of 896 Sheridan road, next door neighbor of the Beck's was in her kitchen which faces toward the Beck home when she heard the shots. At first she too thought it was children with firecrackers. She then heard the second group of shots fired and heard Mrs. Irvine call to her to send for a doctor By this time she was standing in her own back yard and saw a man in a white shirt going up the driveway at Yocum's across the street. "I was so startled," Mrs. Henney said, "I rushed into my house and called one doctor and couldn't get him, I dialed for another and he told me that doctors don't usually answer calls of this kind and advised me to call the police and tell them to send an ambulance By the time I got my wits collected somebody had already done that."

Mrs. Joseph Werthelmer of 897 Sheridan road, another neighbor of the Beck's said when she heard the first shot she too thought it was fireworks. "It just didn't sound like a shot," she said. Upon hearing the second group of shots she looked out the window of her home and saw a large man in a light shirt and dark trousers walk back across the street toward Mrs. Irvine, he put his hand to her head for just a second while standing close to her, he then turned and ran across the street at a "dog trot" Mrs. Werthemier said.

Investigation Starts

Immediately after preliminary investigation of the shooting affray all three shifts of Marion police were called into action and officers of the Marion county sheriff's department and the local substation of the highway patrol called into an alert to assist in the apprehension of the gunman.

Captain Louis Kirts and Patrolman Damon Everly were searching on West Center street in a police cruiser when they saw Matthews standing at the corner of Blaine avenue and West Center street at 11:25 p. m. They placed him under arrest and took him to headquarters. There he was booked for investigation for shooting to kill. Police report this is his first arrest here.

Blood-Stained Shirt Found

Investigation today turned up new clues in the case. Police Chief Marks, sleepless and red eyed today still personally led the investigation. He and Patrolman J. S. Underhill at 9:33 a. m. today answered a phone call to come to the rear of the Clay Hartshorn home at 791 Merlin avenue. They were taken by Mrs. Hartshorn to the edge of the east and west alley at the rear of the Hartshorn home where Mrs. Hartshorn had just discovered a blood-stained white shirt with small red figures in the design, sleeves of the shirt were rolled up and the upper front and left upper sleeves of the shirt were stained with large splotches of

Roving Reports

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

LOUIS is a 12-year-old boy who lives on borrowed blood but never asked anybody to lend him any courage.

Looking up at a doctor in the Kings County hospital giving him his four-hundredth blood transfusion, Louis said cheerfully:

"I sure get tired of coming to the hospital all the time. But one of these days I'll get over this, and I won't have to come back again."

He doesn't know the odds against him. He doesn't know that all victims of his strange malady must keep periodically refueling themselves with other people's blood—or die.

Hal Boyle

At seven months Louis was stricken with Cooley's anemia, a rare disease which strikes chiefly among children of Mediterranean descent. Until recent years the small victims of this obscure ailment simply weakened progressively until death took them. There was no cure. There is no cure. But it was found they could be kept alive by repeated transfusions.

How long Louis is one of the children who is living that answer.

Since his seventh month the body has existed only by the borrowed vigor tapped from the veins of his father and strangers he has never seen. He began by taking a fifth of a pint at each transfusion. Now every few weeks he needs four pints. Later he may require even more.

AS HE LAY ON A BED in the Kings County hospital receiving his 204th pint of blood, Louis joked with the nurses. He didn't look ill. He's a little undersized, but his brown eyes sparkled and he talked gaily of how soon he could give the hospital back its peppermint striped pajamas and go for a trip to the country.

I used to get the blood from my father, Louis confided. He'd bring me here and he'd give as much blood as they'd let him."

"That's right," said Dr. Harvey Gollance, deputy medical superintendent, his father literally would bleed himself white for the boy.

Now the blood is provided by the American Red Cross, which collects it in Brooklyn and other areas for patients such as Louis.

It is always possible that someone will discover a cure, said Dr. Gollance. "Not too long ago we'd have had to give Louis up for lost in his infancy. But now we can keep him alive for many years, as long as we have the blood to give him. And he can lead a reasonably normal life. But he'll have to keep coming back for transfusions as long as he lives."

THE DOCTOR SPOKE too low for Louis to hear. The boy was impatient to leave.

"I like to work on the farm in the country," he said. "I like to plant things and take care of horses. But when I grow up I'm going to be a baseball player. Like Joe DiMaggio. I play in the outfield myself."

Louis leads a normal life. He is an excellent student and will start junior high school next fall. He likes soccer, football and baseball. But after four or five weeks his strength wears out. His lips begin to swell. His skin turns yellow. And Louis knows then he has to go to the hospital.

"My legs feel heavy, and my arms feel heavy and I feel awful tired all over," he said.

"But a couple of hours after I get the blood—as soon as it has a chance to go through my body—I feel swell."

THE AVERAGE ADULT has more than 10 pints of blood in his brief life. Louis has taken about 20 times that amount into his small body. Sometimes he wonders who it came from and what they are like. Some day he would like to meet a donor who has helped him.

First I would say 'hello' and 'thanks to him,' said the boy. 'Then I don't know what I would say. It's hard to think what to say to somebody who gave you his blood. What would you say?"

NO EGG-SAGGERATION—HERE IT IS! Here's something to crow about! And the Rhode Island Red shown in the picture seems to realize that she has produced a young omelet. The mammoth egg weighs a half pound, measures 10½ inches one way and 8½ inches the other. Holding it is Nancy Anne Day, McKeesport, Pa., whose granddaddy C. M. Dirting owns the fowl.

CHICAGO — A rehabilitation specialist holds out new hope to veterans paralyzed from spinal cord injuries.

Dr. Louis B. Newman, chief of the physical medicine rehabilitation service at Hines Veterans hospital, said veterans partially or completely paralyzed by spinal cord injuries no longer face a helpless life.

He said intelligent and cooperative patients with partial use of their upper extremities can be taught to walk with the aid of braces and crutches.

Trained personnel, modern equipment and an "endless reservoir of ingenuity" are necessary to rehabilitate such patients, he said.

Ford TRACTOR and FARM EQUIPMENT

One thing you'll like about the Ford Tractor. It's simple in design and built right. Doesn't take much servicing. Yet when it needs something done here or there, it's easy to do.

For example we can relline brakes in almost no time . . . don't have to pull the axle. Transmission, steering . . . everything is designed for efficient service.

With this new Ford Tractor you won't need us often but when you do you'll like our work. We service all Ford Tractors, and Dearborn Farm Equipment, with genuine parts.

In every Sohio station restroom there's a holder full of postage-paid "complaint" cards. They're put there so that customers can report anything lacking in service or cleanliness. One of the most pleasant things we do is read these cards as they come in. For the cards like the ones shown here outnumber complaints about 50 to one. It's a good barometer of "how we're doing" in our determination to give the best service in the country. Check up on us yourself—send us a card: if it's a pat on the back, we'll like it; if it's a complaint, we want it.

COURT TO HEAR YOUNG APPEAL

Move for Modified Murder Case Sentence Set for Judges Monday.

Appeal of Ernest DeMoyne Young from a conviction of second degree murder will be heard Monday by the Third District court of appeals when the judges meet here to hear three cases from the Marion county common pleas court.

Young, brother of the late Mrs. Grace Young Gerbes, seeks reduction in degree of the crime with a corresponding lessening of sentence. He is now serving a sentence in the penitentiary having been given mercy by the jury that convicted him. He will become eligible for parole only by act of the governor and has the right to reduce the degree of the crime after 10 years.

His attorneys D. D. Mitchell, Weeks, Stevenson and Siegel, managed, charging that the state failed to prove a case and that the murder was premeditated. Chief among the assignments before the appeals court will be the court's alleged error in admitting evidence of Dr. Fred E. Sullenger and Fred L. Hamman, damage suit for $20,081.94 in which a verdict for the defendant was returned in the lower court with the plaintiff appealing the verdict on questions of law and an adoption suit involving adoption of Jeremie Mace Medina, age three, by Wayne and Dorothy Harper. The child's mother, Mary June Crowell, withdrew consent to adoption after the probate court had given the child to the Harpers. The lower court sustained the action of the probate court in awarding the child for adoption with the mother appealing.

In Plain Words

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

IT'S AN amazing sight . . . . The heat wave among Republicans over what Republicans have done to the Marshall plan for helping Europe.

A couple of months ago both house and senate okayed the plan. They voted for it after the most searching examination any program has received in recent years.

All last summer and fall—six months altogether—thousands of experts here and abroad had worked on the plan.

James Marlow

Then around Christmastime President Truman handed it to congress.

All the work done by the experts was then examined by the house committee on foreign affairs and the senate foreign relations committee.

They went over the plan with a microscope. They called in top government officials and experts and questioned them.

Altogether, the two committees spent about six weeks each going over the plan, cutting where they could. Then they turned it over to both houses for a vote.

The full membership of the two houses couldn't go into the plan in detail. They had to depend largely on the word of the committees that the plan was all right.

SO THEY VOTED FOR it and at the same time authorized spending $5,300,000,000 on it the first year.

Since the Republicans control both houses, the Republicans were responsible for the okay and the authorization.

But authorizing the spending of money isn't actually voting for the spending of it.

Authorizing is done first. Then congress comes along a little later and votes to spend it. This is called appropriating.

In short "authorizing" money is merely telling the U. S. treasurer how much money he'll have to spend. Appropriating" it tells him to go ahead and spend it.

BUT BEFORE ANY MONEY is appropriated in congress, the appropriations committees of both houses look into the plan for spending it.

And it's always the house appropriations committee which starts the ball rolling.

Rep. John Taber, white-haired New York Republican who's built himself a reputation by his eagerness to cut down government spending, is chairman.

So for one month Taber's house appropriations committee held hearings of its own on the Marshall plan.

This was after all the work already done on it and after both houses had voted for the plan.

Even though the Republican-controlled house had authorized spending $5,300,000,000 on the plan the first year, Taber's committee decided to cut it down by over a billion dollars.

DID THE COMMITTEE decide to cut so much off this item, so much off that going down the line in detail? No. It was to be a general cut.

And the house again unable to go into all details, took Taber's say so and voted to cut the Marshall plan by over one billion dollars.

This was the same house which, a couple of months ago took the word of its foreign affairs committee and authorized $5,300,000,000.

But this cut won't be final unless the Republican controlled senate also agrees to top the billion or so dollars off the plan.

COURT MOVED BY HARD LUCK STORY. This sad scene got Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Rankinson freed until a second hearing in a New York court. Held for abandoning their 3-month-old son in Brooklyn in March, Rankinson, a disabled veteran unable to work, sobbed out a story of how, through a mixup in his discharge papers, he was forced on relief, how hard luck followed hard luck. The court was so moved the couple was freed, at least temporarily.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

"If they'll only hurry!" Olina, exiled princess of Transvania, murmured back to me with an impatient and decidedly unregal glance at my father and her stepfather two gentlemen of the old school carrying through with the elaborate formalities of greeting.

Then Philip crossed to me and bowed over my hand while I almost could feel Olina's neck hackles rise beside me.

I am leaving Olina with you," he said. Your father says for you to give us a ring when you have finished your talk. Then I will come down and escort her back. Charles also says for you to take all the time you wish within reason."

His lips twitched as he added the last two words and I knew that he realized as I did how short was my father's idea of a "reasonable time." Secretly I was glad, however, I wanted to give Olina no chance for disturbing questions.

"I shall try not to delay him," I said, and in another minute I was putting up the night chain behind the two men.

"We are all alone?" Olina queried, looking around the room as I drew two chairs close together, motioned her to one, and took the other myself.

"Not a soul beside ourselves in the apartment. I told her. "Dicky has Ruth over in his studio, while Aunt Katharine and Mary are in the Bickett's suite. Noel has gone to his studio, and you must have seen my father depart. Everybody accounted for."

"I suppose my coming drove them out," she said, a bit ruefully, "but I can't say I'm sorry."

"Why should you be?" I countered. "They're all perfectly comfortable and we're safe from intrusion. And now, I'll tell you about Georges. What do you want to hear first?"

Her great love for her betrothed husband shone in her lustrous eyes as she answered me.

"How is he physically and in spirit?" she asked. Is he well and is his wonderful spirit broken at all?"

I wanted to tell her that I had seen the royal playboy's wonderful spirit beaten to the dust, and that it was the best thing that ever had happened to him. But of course I could say nothing like that to Olina. I could hope only that Georges' yen for the catharsis of confession to her also had been beaten out of him, and that she never would know the colossal mistake he had almost made.

"I think he is very fit indeed," and in every way," I said. "He is a few pounds thinner, but he looks as strong and muscular as ever."

"As for his spirits," I went on, steeling my conscience for the fib. "You know Georges. Nothing ever gets him down. Of course he is wild with impatience to see you, and very much elated and excited about the wedding. He told me to tell you he was living only for your wedding day."

I salved my conscience for that one with the reflection that Georges had voiced that sentiment during our interview and knew of course, that I would pass it on to Olina. And I made a mental note to see him before she did and make certain he remembered that particular message to her.

Her great eyes were suddenly clouded.

"Didn't he write me a message?" she said, and her voice was that of a disappointed child. I wished heartily that I had taken Georges "by the scruff of his neck" and shaken him soundly when he was wasting the time which should have been devoted to a letter to Olina with his soul searchings about Mary.

"I'm afraid that was my fault," I said. "We had but a few minutes at the farm you know, and most of that time was taken up with supper, and with getting M. and 'E.' and Georges settled in my father's wing. There really wasn't anytime for him to write a note."

She swallowed that gamely whether or not she believed it and put another question.

"Did you tell him anything about my wanting Mary for matron of honor?" she asked.

WATERWAYS IN OHIO FINANCED

$12,630,000 Federal Allowance Includes Provision for Delaware Dam Project.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 11—Ohio will get $12,630,000 for flood control and navigation projects in the year starting July 1 under agreements reached by senate and house conferees yesterday.

Representatives of the two houses made three major changes in the overall Army civil functions bill, which provides $573,000,000 for waterways throughout the country.

Dillon reservoir near Zanesville finally got in to the Muskingum conservancy district 15-dam flood control project—conferees allowed $1,500,000. The senate previously voted $3,000,000 after the house had approved only $1,000,000.

For Cleveland Harbor

Cleveland harbor for replacement of one bridge and starting work on two others—conferees allowed $4,000,000. The same as voted by the house. The senate had increased it to $2,000,000.

The senate-house representatives also approved $2,407,500 for completion of the Portsmouth, New Boston flood wall. The house had approved $2,000,000 but the senate jacked this up to the final total.

Another item: Big Walnut creek reservoir near Columbus for which the senate allotted $600,000 also was approved. The house did not include this project in its bill.

The agreements announced last night are subject to approval by the senate and house before going to President Truman. However in the past both houses usually have gone along with the conference report.

Other civil construction items in the bill on which there was no disagreement or on them in the senate and house bills were not subject to change. One of them is Delaware reservoir, $1,494,000.

Joint Over Dam Project

Dillon dam was the most controversial of the Ohio projects with Reps. McGregor and Griffiths both Republicans jousting at one another for months. McGregor opposing the dam at one time said he might ask a congressional investigation of Army engineers recommendation for $3,000,000.

Both Senators Taft and Bricker Republicans asked the senate appropriations committee to include the big walnut creek project in its list.

BIS SUPERINTENDENT KIWANIS SPEAKER

Col. H. L. Hays Explains Program at School.

Col. Harold L. Hays superintendent of the Boys Industrial School at Lancaster gave a history of the school and explained the work which is to be carried on in the branch to be located in Marion when he spoke to members of the Marion Kiwanis club at their weekly luncheon meeting Thursday at Hotel Harding.

Mr. Hays said that 50 per cent of the boys who have been in industrial schools will become good boys and good citizens while the other 50 per cent are expected to be re-arrested, get into trouble again. Of the latter 50 per cent half eventually become law abiding citizens and half be the type who will live in the state prison.

When the boys leave the school Mr. Hays stated they are told what is expected in their life ahead and that if they strive to do the right thing in their community the public will soon forget the past. He complimented Juvenile and Probate Judge Edward J. Ruzzo for the work which he is doing among the young people here.

In the institution to be located in Marion boys will be taught skills proper attitudes and habits. Mr. Hays stated that it takes eight years on the part of a community to make a delinquent boy and he urges the public to think of this when boys can be given an opportunity to become better citizens.

Two new members were introduced: Richard Dunn of Marion and John L. Calkins who came here recently from Ironwood, Mich.

An announcement was made of the annual family picnic to be held Thursday June 24, at McKinley park.

Guests were Kiwanian M. V. Nichols of Dayton, Kiwanian Stanley Shepard of Albany, N. Y. Kiwanian Harry Hudson of Plymouth, Mich. Kiwanian Gerald Stahly of Lancaster, W. T. Edwards of Lancaster and Judge Ruzzo of Marion.

FRIDAY JUNE 11 1948

Fifth of The Line

LEWIS D SCHWELLENBACH was the fifth secretary of the department of labor since it was made a separate division of the executive department in 1913 His predecessors were Frances Perkins only woman to serve in a presidential cabinet William N Doak James J Davis and William B Wilson Of the five only Miss Perkins was memorable not for what she did so much as for her long tenure and her identity as the first person of her sex to be taken into the inner circle of presidential politics

The function of the department of labor has not jelled in the third of a century it has been in existence Under Mr Schwellenbach it was in a steady decline that had started while Miss Perkins was secretary It never has been a strong department nor is it likely to become one It is handicapped by the fundamental misconception that labor has a special identity It would be just as sensible to have a department of clerical workers or a department of unions which is what the department of labor sometimes has resembled

Mr Schwellenbach's death will give President Truman an appointment to make at a time when he is trying to line up votes The sixth secretary of labor will be the person who promises to do the most good for Mr Truman in a cabinet post that shouldn't have been created in the first place

The Candidate Is Still President

MR TRUMAN'S frantic effort to lift himself in politics by his own bootstraps is a spectacle that leaves many of his countrymen more disturbed than amused

The discredited and harassed leader of the broken-up Democratic party is still the Chief Executive of the United States It is a long time before inauguration day next January The presidency of the United States is still one of the most important jobs in the world

Better poised chief executives than Mr Truman have had trouble maintaining the dignity of the presidency while running for reelection, even with the advantage of a united party organization behind them There have been many times when the stain of their political mud fights has dimmed the luster of the prestige that belongs to the presidency That is one of the weaknesses of the American political system—that it requires a man to be the administrative head of the government and be involved in electioneering at the same time

Mr Truman taking his cue from Franklin D Roosevelt, whose own vote-pulling power was so great that he could risk a mud fight, is making congress his special target His slurs come with bad grace from a man who formerly served in congress himself and would still be there had it not been for a decision of a coterie of New Deal kings in 1944 They are dangerous, moreover, because in any mud slinging Harry Truman seems certain to get more than he can throw—at great cost to the prestige of his office between now and next January

More Money from Washington

SOCIAL SECURITY act changes passed recently by congress will bring increased pension funds to Ohio, beginning in October For instance, on a $40 pension, the federal government now contributes $22 50 and Ohio pays $17 50 The new law raises the federal government's share to $27 50

The state has three choices It may increase the $40 pension to $45 It may add more pensioners to the rolls or it may put the increased federal payment into its own treasury Those who point out that the cost of living has risen for pensioners too have a good argument in favor of the first choice

Just Assuming

THE PLAN for an American foreign legion has a good chance of passing in congress, the senate having approved a force of 25 000 There would be no difficulty raising that many or 10 times that many

The assertion that we would be recruiting a band of mercenaries is outweighed by the fact that such a legion would lighten the draft demands on the nation's young men

There is a possibility too that such a legion might one day play another role Assume that eventually the United Nations comes into its own that it musters strength to the point where it is able to lay levies on member nations for troops to patrol the world's trouble spots

Assume further that Congress fixes the United States quota at 25 000 If such a levy meant taking American boys away from home to do sentry duty or skirmish with guerrillas on some far frontier a roar would go up that would shake the Capitol dome But the roar would never go up if we had an American-trained American-paid and American-officered legion to do the job. The day might even come when such a legion could be transferred to the UN as a component of a permanent international force

These are just assumptions, of course but even if they never materialize, an American foreign legion, composed of carefully-screened high caliber personnel, could very well represent our cause in Europe's outposts.

Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

An Ex-President's Real Stature Recognized.

EUGENE LYONS, of all people, has written a book on Herbert Hoover entitled "Our Unknown Ex President" I say of all people because I knew the day when Gene was not favorably disposed toward Mr Hoover and when he thought my admiration for the ex-president was not justified In fact, Lyons speaks of this in the book

"For a long time I stood myself among those intellectuals who would rather be caught stealing than caught on the un-liberal, conservative left alone reactionary side of any political debate. The mortal sin in our milieu was not to be wrong but to be right

In 1936, it happens I took a leave of absence from my business of the moment to throw myself actively into the campaign to re-elect Franklin D Roosevelt To be specific I acted as publicity director of the newly formed American Labor party which that year did help swing the balance that put New York in the Democratic electoral column. Though the Republican candidate was Alf Landon the chief targets of my publicity as of the Democratic offensive generally, were Hoover and the 'Hoover depression' Naturally I was not encumbered with too much knowledge or any understanding of the man"

SOKOLSKY

Belated Recognition

The marvel to me is that so many men and women are at last coming to an understanding of this amazing man, Hoover They are beginning to realize what a mistake was made in 1932 Hoover has lived long enough to visualize this change in attitude, to realize that he has regained the respect, if not the affection, of a very large part of the American people Recently, when I moved along the Yellowstone river man after man pointed to the places where Hoover annually comes to fish to the Will Thornton lodge where he stays There was real affection for the man whose simplicity, whose humility and humanity are an experience to be long remembered.

Eugene Lyons has written a good book, because it is a labor of contrition and love. He had to write this book in justice to himself and to those New York intellectuals who joined in defaming and abusing a man who now for 34 years has devoted himself unstintingly and unreservedly to the public good The book reflects Lyons changed attitude.

Modest, Never Bitter

I told Mr Hoover that of all the writing I had seen about him, I thought that this book by Eugene Lyons "Our Unknown Ex-President" was the best. As is usual, Mr Hoover's face became very red when he said "Too many overstatements A bit embarrassing" And that of course, is the man He has never been embittered by attack and smear and humiliation he never accepts praise without bashfulness. He has passed three score and ten but has not yet overcome an initial shyness which is tantamount to selfishness

That is one reason why Herbert Hoover has been hard to know He does not subscribe to flattery nor is he vindictive He accepts friendship as a human relationship. He accept enmity as a human frailty Maybe all Quakers are like that At any rate it is easier to understand these qualities in the man after reading Lyons book for apparently Gene was puzzled by these qualities and searched for their origin in the background and ancestry of the man.

Lyons makes the point that Hoover has no ex friends, which is only partly true—the whole truth is that all his friends are bound together in a fraternity unexampled in American life He has not only never lost a friend but those who love him love each other Intimate association with the chief binds these men and women not only to him but to each other in a fraternity of service For if to love mankind is the essence of Christianity then this man who has given his years to loving friend and foe is an ideal for all who know him

I am sure that Eugene Lyons has done his country a service by writing this book—and it would be a tribute to a great and good man if it were found on top of the list of best sellers

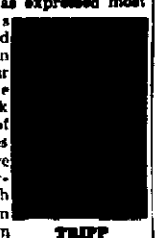
As Others See Us

By Frank Tripp

A COMMON attitude of charitable Americans in two world wars took the blame for aggression off the people and put it upon the military of Germany and Japan

It was not unusual to hear that the Germans and the Japanese were quite good people, with whom we could get along swimmingly if it were not for the militarists who controlled them

This belief was expressed most by Americans who had lived or traveled in the lands of our enemies those who got back into the heart of those countries and had a chance to become acquainted with the common people and learn their hopes



TRIPP

The opinion did not prevail too much among our soldiers who returned It was more often encountered after the first World War than after the last.

Nevertheless there exists a certain pity among us for peoples who are dominated by militaristic governments Maybe it is time we had like pity for ourselves We are likely to believe that no people, as a nation want war bloodshed and destruction of their treasure So most of us blame politics diplomats and war lords for the troubles of the world

* * *

Whether or not we absolve foreign masses of blame we cannot deny that statesmanship—or lack of it—has created more strained relations between nations and more wars than have unfriendly acts or gestures of all the common people of all time The people do not start wars

Nor do they create incidents which bring war For instance, what part had the American people in the last fiasco of our state department" In which part of our diplomats told Russia we'd like to talk another part said no we don't still another said yes we do but not about that And made a veritable fool of the United States before all the world

What part have the American people in the maladministration of billions in European reconstruction relief, or in the foreign black markets which thrive off the goods which never reach the people or the purposes for which they were meant"

What part had the people in our antics in Palestine" By what can the world judge the American people other than by acts of our statesmen and those who represent us? Others know no more of us as individuals than we know of them We can have neither confidence nor understanding save among the few who have lived among us and know our true desires for peace

* * *

Thus we are looked upon exactly as we look upon others At best enjoying the sympathy of the few who blame our own diplomats and militarists as we blame theirs for the things that make us mad

Sadly diplomats top militarists and statesmen who cause the trouble don't get hurt when war comes They talk suavely think ponderously and maneuver adroitly, well behind the lines The conscripts fight and get killed The people slave produce finance the war and go without the things they need

That is true all over the world no matter what countries fight no matter which wins victory only starts another argument in which statesmen and politicians disagree—and get relations all mussed up for another war

* * *

When things go bad in war we change generals

Why is it that when things go bad in peace we let them go from bad to worse until we face another war more bloody than the last"

Why must the American people be humiliated in the eyes of all the world because of the ineptness of their statesmen" Why not different statesmen"

None but the reds pinks and Wallaces among us would have taken all the guff that statesmen let Stalin cram down our throats We would have seen no nearer war with Russia had we called her first bluff than we are by letting her kick us all over the lot—perhaps not half so near

A Chicago magazine salesman is under arrest for stabbing a woman who refused to buy a subscription

He must have been working his way through reform school

Persistence is a virtue only when it stops at violence Anything can be carried too far including the business of not taking no for an answer

Forceful selling is all right only when there's not too much emphasis on the FORCE.

A lot of salesmen don't realize where persuasion leaves off and assault and battery begins

Of course in this instance the reluctant customer is probably sorry she didn't take the magazine It would have given her something to read in the hospital.

The Edge of the Abyss

By Stewart Alsop

LONDON

FOR some days we were on the edge of an abyss' an official here remarked recently He was discussing the Soviet-sponsored and American-supported United Nations proposal for sanctions against the Arab state The proposal was defeated in the security council but it may be reintroduced at a later date And it is worth recording the unanimous conviction of the British officials concerned that the proposal threatened to force the Middle East into the Soviet sphere of influence, together with the reasons for this conviction

ALSOP

These reasons mainly concern Iraq The economic position in Iraq is already desperate If imports from the West were stopped, even the present appallingly low standard of living in Iraq could not be maintained And solid information available to the British intelligence service indicated that the Soviets were fully prepared to take advantage of this situation

As soon as sanctions were imposed a violent political explosion in Iraq would have been inevitable The pro-Soviet political group in Iraq more powerful than in any other Middle Eastern country except possibly Iran was clearly preparing to use this explosion to its own ends with Soviet support Soviet support according to the intelligence reports was to take the form of a Soviet gold loan This loan had already been promised to pro-Soviet Iraq leaders even while the discussions in the United Nations were in progress It was to be made available after the sanctions were imposed in exchange for certain concessions to the Soviet Union There is no doubt at all that these concessions would have assured effective Soviet political control of Iraq

Consequences Visualized

The results were wholly predictable Extension of effective Soviet influence would mean the bypassing of the whole Anglo-American holding line to the Soviet Union's south, in Greece Turkey and Iran Moreover with Iraq fallen to the Soviet sphere other Middle Eastern countries would certainly soon have followed suit Pakistan also subject to sanctions under the Soviet resolution, and where the economic situation is as desperate as in Iraq could only have turned to its powerful northern neighbor Iran, it was believed would have been the next to go In short the process of destroying the whole western position in the Middle East would have been well begun and the Western nations faced with a wholly catastrophic strategic defeat.

All this may sound alarmist. Yet it is in broad outline the serious British estimate of the situation which was repeatedly communicated to Washington in the days during which the Palestine issue was being debated in the United Nations This British estimate may have been incorrect or exaggerated, although the report of the proposed Soviet gold loan to Iraq was considered solid information here and seemed clearly enough to indicate Soviet intentions At any rate the repeated warnings from London were for some days not even acknowledged by Washington which seems at this distance a remarkable example of moral cowardice Acknowledgment was finally forthcoming from Washington only after a special meeting of top British political and military leaders were convened and their unanimous estimate of the dangers of the situation forwarded to Washington

Evidence of Dangers

All this is now water over the dam Yet it serves to illustrate the immense dangers implicit in the whole Palestine situation. Few here will defend in detail the policy on Palestine which has been until recently pursued by stubborn British Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin No one proposes that Washington should slavishly follow London's lead on policy toward the Middle East in any other area But there is a general conviction here shared by responsible American observers that Washington has consistently disregarded or shoved under the rug the ugly facts of the situation in the Middle East The central fact is simply that the Soviet planners clearly intend to use the Palestine issue first to drive a wedge between the British and American partners, and second as a means of extending Soviet power into the Middle East

Never Saw Bible

By The Associated Press

EDINBURGH — A report to the Church of Scotland deplores the finding that some children have never seen a Bible but do know all about the movies The report observes "There was a time not so far distant when it was safe to assume that most young people came from homes where they received at least some Christian teaching That is now the exception rather than the rule."

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

It's Dr. Eisenhower Now

General "Ike" Eisenhower, now Dr Eisenhower has taken over as President of Columbia University and now commands Morningside Heights and the entire New York area dominion sector All offers by students to give two salutes in exchange for one cuss are being rejected.

Whoever dreamed that the global war would put tens of thousands of GI's in college and their commander in chief at the head of a great university

PHILLIPS

However according to reports, a military man is the proper person to head schools these days, as it is a battle all the way to get the kids to take an objective.

This department can't help wondering how it seems to "Ike" to step from the role of a great commander to the cloistered confines of a university Is he still inclined to consult maps and figure out a line of strategy" Does he have to fight back the urge to brief the faculty at the beginning of each day"

* * *

Does Dr Eisenhower keep wondering if the Greek class needs more support whether the engineering students have had time to dig in whether the classes in philosophy have left them flanks unprotected

* * *

Does he feel a constant impulse to walk professor of education to ask whether he checked his equipment and if his supply train has come up" Are there moments every morning when day dreaming he asks his secretary abruptly "Get through a message to the freshmen and see if the lines are holding"

* * *

Now and then under the new influence does a professor phone and say, "General Eisenhower this is Dr Snoffle reporting My class is giving me more trouble and I can't possibly attain the objectives without reinforcements, sir"

* * *

We think it possible You can't blend the life of a global commandant with a college professor without having some confusion Our intelligence force at Columbia reports that several professors have been seen carrying walkie talkies and that on one occasion General Eisenhower commanding a taxi exclaimed 'Man, your coat is unbuttoned again"

Life Gets Tougher And Tougher

LITERARY CRITICISM

Margery Sharp to give her fair do
Writes excellent books but I don't like her hair-do

Specialization

By TRUMAN TWILL

Members of this year's graduating class have been given the best advice that can be bought with the customary honorarium—and some of it was Grade-A

But there was a catch to it even when it was good No one can bestow wisdom The advice commencement speakers handed out was good only as far as it went—and it couldn't go beyond their own experience

This year's graduates will be confronted with new circumstances and fresh problems They will tackle these to the best of their ability The one who do the best job will be asked to make commencement speeches a third of a century hence based on their new experiences

Most of the people who've made shining marks in this world have been original thinkers They did something no one ever did before They avoided the temptation to be imitators and became originators instead They refused to play it safe and chose to play it dangerously

A good many took it on the chin, not once but many times But because they dared to do their own thinking they had the courage to come back Eventually they came back with a bang

One of the things usually overlooked about success is that it was made possible by a combination of personal qualities that would have brought success in almost any line of endeavor The successful person happened to succeed in some particular field but he would have succeeded in anything he tried to do

The popular notion is that specialization is the key to success That's only partly true Specialization in one particular thing gives the specializer an advantage but what pays off is being able to specialize without getting in a rut

Outside the window where this is being written a workman is breaking up concrete with a pneumatic hammer He's a specialist—presumably the best hammer operator in the organization he works for The question is How many other things can he do well besides operating a pneumatic hammer"

Biographies of successful people reveal they were able to do many things well Finally they concentrated on some particular thing that gave them the biggest return either in personal satisfaction or money for the effort But might have been some other thing They were versatile

Specialization can be a blind alley as well as a broad highway The world is full of "trained people who have wasted the knack of doing some particular task but don't know beans about anything else If only they had developed the imagination and energy to keep growing, but they know what a disappointment specialization can be

The graduates of 1948 are going into a new and different world They should take a crack at everything that comes their way They should practice versatility against the time when they may need to fall back on it for their own happiness and security If they learn how to do a few things surpassingly well that's dandy But if they can do almost anything that needs to be done, that's even better They'll always know then where their next meal is coming from—out of their own ingenuity.

Ticket orders are now being accepted by the Chamber of Commerce for the Aug. 24 broadcast of "America's Town Meeting of the Air."

The "Town Meeting" will be broadcast from the stage of the Palace theater at 7 p. m. All of the 1,300 seats to be made available will be reserved seats with early purchasers making in on a choice of seats.

Tickets which may be obtained at the Chamber office are numbered, with reservations to be claimed Aug. 2 in the order in which tickets were purchased. Those who have secured tickets but will not be here on Aug. 2 to indicate their preference of seats may leave their tickets at the Chamber office with preferences indicated and reservations will be arranged, it was indicated.

The popular forum attraction which features a critical current discussion by nationally famous people, has had 500 hours on the air as a regular feature on the American Broadcasting company's national network.

Founder and moderator of the forum, George V. Denny Jr., explains the principle behind it in a unique way. Dipping into his pocket he'll produce a small ball, holding it up for observation.

"What color is it," he asks. "Why it's white" is the reply to the obvious question. "No it isn't, it's black," Denny declares, twisting the ball around to reveal that one side is white and the other black.

"People are like that, they can see only one side of a question," Denny says. Town Meeting's purpose is to make them see both sides, to weigh and consider the various aspects of important national and international issues."

In 1850 there was not a mile of steam railroad anywhere west of the Mississippi river in the United States.

By International News Service

DALLAS Tex — If your child has a hard time reading it may be because he has a dominant left eye

The Mathiases say that a child whose left eye is dominant or who has mixed dominance may see letters and words in reverse

They explain that b becomes d p looks like 'q' was looks like saw, and on look like no'

The couple adds that other problems in reading can be traced to the emotions They say a child's ability to read may be blocked by such things as jealousy of his sister

These problems are being attacked at the Manor by definite teaching methods and mechanical devices Among the latter is the metronoscope a complex machine which curbs the habit of regressing letting the eye jump back to a word already read

VOLCANOES APT TO BE "BAD" JUST NOW

By International News Service

HONOLULU — Among the things you are living through during these 40s of the 20th century are disturbed volcanoes

Dr Thomas A. Jaggar, world-famous scientist and authority on volcanoes has disclosed that the present decade repeats the 1900 to 1910 cycle of restive volcanoes

Dr Jaggar recalled volcanic activity during the 1900 to 1910 cycle which culminated in the eruption of Mount Pelu in French Martinique, an eruption which killed 26 000 people

According to Dr Jaggar during the present cycle Mount Vesuvius, near Naples Italy, and Mount Etna, in Sicily, both erupted in 1944 Other large volcanoes which have erupted during the cycle include, Paracutin in Mexico; Tin Can Island, in the Tonga archipelago of the South Pacific Mount Sakura Jima in southern Japan Mount Mayon in the Philippines Mount Heclar in Iceland and Raupehu in New Zealand

Dr Jaggar emphasizes that it was a volcanic disturbance at the bottom of the Pacific Ocean just south of the Aleutian Islands that caused the tidal wave that proved so disastrous to the Hawaiian Islands in April 1946

Mrs. R. Flood, 615 Edward St., loses weight without dieting.

"Before I started taking Rennel I weighed over 200 pounds and was very uncomfortable I have not followed a diet I have eaten whatever I wanted to yet Rennel has helped me to lose 40 pounds. My friends are all talking about how much weight I have lost. I am going to continue taking Rennel until I have regained my normal weight."

Hundreds of others have obtained similar relief from the social and physical discomforts of being overweight. Rennel is the original grapefruit juice recipe for taking off ugly fat. It's simple. Just go to your druggist and ask for 4 ounces of liquid Rennel Pour the contents into a pint bottle—add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle, then take just two tablespoonsful twice a day That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves—if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle to the manufacturer for your money back. You need never know a hungry moment while taking Rennel—no starvation diet—no printed diet list to buy—no vitamins to fortify you against weakness while going hungry for you WON'T be hungry. HURLS NO-HITTER FOR MINNEAPOLIS

By The Associated Press

Monte Calvin (Monte) Kennedy the Minneapolis refinancier from Amelia, Va., was Nicolle Park's candidate for the Hall of Baseball fame Friday after pitching five Millers to a no-hit, no-run 14 to 0 triumph over Louisville last night.

The 6-foot 1-inch 26-year-old lefthander who won 18 and lost 12 in two seasons (1946-47) with the New York Giants, issued only three bases on balls and struck out 10 Colonels, including the last three to face him.

The only threat of a hit came in the first inning. Aaron Bergamo's liner was grabbed by Lew Schulte Minneapolis second baseman, who made a leaping catch to rob the Colonel outfielder of a hit.

The last no-hit no-run game in the American Association was pitched by Carl De Rose last June 18 in Kansas City. The towering Blues' righthander — sore arm, notwithstanding — shut out Minneapolis, 5 to 0.

St Paul saved up its newly-found power to score three runs in the eighth to defeat Columbus, 7 to 6. The victory moved the Saints into third place, ahead of Columbus and 5½ games behind pace-setting Indianapolis. Ray Campanella hit his fourth home run in three nights to clinch it for the Saints' winning rally.

At Milwaukee, Indianapolis snapped a five game Milwaukee winning streak, 14 to 3, and regained a 4½ game lead over the runnerup Brewers.

Rain at Kansas City postponed the Blues' game with Toledo.

Orth, Martindale Win Tag Match

In a fast and furious tag match at the Armory last night Paul Orth and Tommy Martindale teamed up to take two straight falls from "Irish" McGee and Bene Blakely.

Orth and Martindale, combining their talents, won the first fall in 15 minutes with unethical slugging and a slam and pin. McGee suffered the slugs at the hands of Orth and Blakely, the pin and slam by Martindale. Orth pinned Blakely in the second fall and Martindale did the same for McGee.

Irish McGee defeated Orth in a 30-minute affair, with a stopper hold in 13 minutes. Everyone won but Blakely who also took a lickin' in a 30-minute match with Martindale. Sam Taylor and Karlton Luke wrested to a ten-minute draw in a preliminary bout.

OHIO AAU MEET SET TOMORROW

By International News Service

DAYTON, June 11—Ohio Olympic hopefuls will be in the spotlight tomorrow as a star-studded field competes at Dayton in the Ohio A A U track and field meet.

Most glamorous name on the entry list is that of Harrison Dillard, the world's fastest hurdler. Dillard will seek to run his string of consecutive victories to 79 as he competes in the 100-yard dash and both hurdles.

Spectators also will watch closely the performance of Gene Cole, the 17-year-old Lancaster youth, who was a triple winner in the state high school meet and set a national scholastic 440-yard record of 48 seconds.

Cole's chief competition in the 440 probably will come from Gunther Katzmar, teammate of Dillard at Baldwin-Walace, who won the event in the Ohio college meet a week ago.

Ohio State's track team, indoor and outdoor Western Conference king, also will be on hand and should make a strong bid for team honors.

The only Buck missing the meet will be conference 440 champ Mal Whitfield, who will be competing with Lockbourne Air Base in the Eastern Air Force meet at Columbus.

NEW YORK CENTRAL RESTORES 4 TRAINS

The New York Central railroad has re-scheduled four passenger trains on the Columbus to Toledo and Columbus to Charleston, W Va., runs, The United Press reported from Columbus today.

Trains were discontinued March 21 in accordance with an ODT fuel saving order and were never restored, the railroad having appealed to the state utilities commission for permission to abandon the runs permanently.

The railroad announced today that the trains would run again starting Monday. Cities served by the trains, including Kenton and Marysville, had complained both to the railroad and utilities commission at discontinuance of service.

Trains returned to the schedule are one leaving Columbus for Toledo at 10:05 a m., another arriving from Toledo at 6:25 p. m., a third leaving for Charleston, W Va., at 9 a m and the fourth arriving from Charleston at 2:20 p. m.

Lloyd MacGuire Talks to Club at YMCA.

Lloyd MacGuire field supervisor for the Cole-Layer Trumble Co. which is conducting the real estate reappraisal in Marion county was guest speaker last night at a meeting of the Y's Men's club held at the YMCA.

The supervisor indicated that the 1941 index of building prices would be used in computing valuation of property. The depth factor is not always taken into consideration in appraisals MacGuire explained.

Guests included Merle and Oliver Hamilton of the J M Hamilton Stone Co., Fred Schalinger and Walter Kelsey both of Marion.

TWO REFORMATORY FUGITIVES AT LARGE

By International News Service

ASHLAND, June 11 — Two of the four fugitives who escaped from the Mansfield reformatory still were at large today.

Rudolph W. Limaure of Lynn, Mass., and Louis Stanley of New Orleans were apprehended yesterday in Ashland several hours after they knocked the bricks from a sealed-up tower window and dropped eight feet to the ground. With them in the escape were Charles Fetzer of Toledo and Albert Connors of Cleveland.

Limaure was given a 1-20 year sentence for auto theft last Oct. 1 in Columbus. He was a fugitive from the Salem, Mass., house of correction at the time of his arrest. Stanley was sentenced from Hancock county on a similar charge.

Both were inmates in the reformatory's honor camp. Fetzer and Connors were being treated.

MAY FOLLOW CAPPER. Since he is the only announced Republican candidate, Gov. Andrew Schoeppel (above) of Kansas, is seen as the possible successor to Sen. Arthur Capper. The 82-year-old veteran of 30 years of Senate service has announced he will not seek re-election.

RULES AGAINST PART OF OBSCENITY LAW

By International News Service

CINCINNATI, O., June 11 — Hamilton county Common Pleas Court Judge Stanley Struble has ruled part of Ohio's obscene literature law unconstitutional and declared:

"There is nothing untaste or shameful in a woman disrobing they do disrobe."

His statement Thursday on a series of strip-tease pictures cleared Cincinnati news dealer Oscar Lerner of a charge of possessing and selling obscene literature. Judge Struble's statement said:

"These front views, as well as the other views are of God's own children as He made them in His own image. There can be no obscenity in God's handiwork."

"There is nothing distasteful to the eye in this strip tease act. This young woman has a nice face and form and she is nicely appareled. She is plying her trade in this act and she chose a clean act, a woman disrobing."

Judge Struble said:

"Normal sex ideas are all right. Nature is aflame with sex ideas, the hoot of the owl, the coo of the dove, the blossoms of the flowers, plants and trees. The spawning of fish. Sex is the why and wherefore of life and living."

MISSIONARY TO SPEAK

Rev. Donald Gowe of Columbus, home on furlough from St. Luke's hospital in Ponce, Puerto Rico, where he is a medical missionary, will speak at a special service to be held at the St. Paul's Episcopal parish house tonight at 8 o'clock, Rev. Frederick W. Leech, pastor, announced today. Rev. Gowe will also show colored pictures of activities and work at the hospital in Puerto Rico. A social hour will follow the service.

The Mariana, Marshall and Caroline islands, known as Micronesia, are scattered over an area larger than that of continental United States but have an aggregate area less than that of Rhode Island.

Program Is Presented By Tenor and Chorus

An entertainment program of classical, semi-classical and Negro spirituals was presented by John Anglin, concert tenor and his choir of 12 male voices last night at Thomas A. Edison Junior High school. A fair-sized audience attended the concert. In addition to the program the soloist and ensemble responded with a number of encores.

The concert was sponsored by the Victory class of the First Evangelical United Brethren church and proceeds will be placed in the church building fund. James Craven was chairman of the general committee in charge of plans for the concert.

The group will present a concert in Columbus today after which they will leave on an extended summer tour of the south and west. Mr. Anglin is a professor in the music department at Capital university in Columbus.

Intestinal Tuberculous Case

Now and then a patient with tuberculosis of the lungs has his disease brought under control under only to find that fever, fatigue, and loss of weight continue. In such cases it has been pointed out that tuberculous infection of the bowel may be present.

Intestinal tuberculosis is not contracted very often from infected milk, but is usually the result of swallowing sputum containing the tuberculous germs coming from a lung infection. The germs lodge in the lymphoid tissue in the intestine. The infection may cause ulcers to form in the bowel. As these ulcers heal, scar tissue forms which, in some cases may lead to blocking of the opening through the bowel.

Tuberculosis of the bowel causes pain in the abdomen usually in the right lower part. It is made worse by eating and is relieved by a bowel movement. Such patients also suffer from diarrhea, loss of appetite, and vomiting. Whenever such an infection is suspected, X-rays of the intestines should be taken. Such X-ray examination usually makes it possible to diagnose the condition accurately.

If the disorder is discovered early and proper treatment is carried out, complete healing will result after the lung infection is checked, for tuberculosis of the intestine will not get well until the lungs are cleared up.

The patients are given a bland diet that is one which contains no highly-seasoned or bulky foods. In addition, the patients are given large amounts of vitamin C and B-complex.

If there is a great deal of diarrhea, the diet is limited in fat, and is rich in starches, sugars, and proteins in such foods as meat, milk, eggs and fish. The patients are also given calcium or lime salts.

If healing does not occur fairly rapidly it is suggested that some operative treatment be carried out and the affected part of the bowel removed. In some

Richmond Ends 7-Game Losing Streak with 8-3 Win over Marion

Sports Shorts

By BILL DEEM
Star Sports Editor

THE seven home runs hit in Lincoln park Wednesday night came within one of equaling an Ohio-Indiana league record of three year's standing. In a game in 1945 a total of eight were lifted over the old Newark ball park walls, Frank Colley, president of the Ohio-Indiana league revealed. The seven four-masters here, however, set a Lincoln park record and were easily the second most ever hit in an Ohio-Indiana league park.

A new league record was set at Zanesville Wednesday night, though, when the Dodgers scored 27 runs in a doubleheader against Muncie. The old mark was 25 runs, established by Springfield in 1944.

HEFTY BOB SHUFORD'S batter 354 batting average led the Marion list at the end of the home stand Wednesday night, but Bill Bolduc, who has been in a steady climb since the season began, is pushing him for the top spot with a .339 mark Bolduc has led all along in runs batted in and total bases hit and is still at the head of the class with 30 RBI's and 72 total bases Shuford has batted in 25, one less than Lee Bohlander and one more than Pete Schnepf, but is second in total bases with 60. Don Schmitt leads in homers with four and is batting .302.

Shuford took over the batting lead from Pete Neukirch, who suffered a 2-for-20 slump during the recent home stand after starting off during the Memorial day weekend at a .482 clip He dropped to .319 as of Wednesday night.

A STORY MAKING the rounds in Newark concerns the efforts of Michigan Athletic Director Fritz Crisler and Denison university's E. J Livingston to woo Newark High school's track sensation, Gene Cole, to their respective institutions for his college career Said Livingston, a guest at the recent Newark Agonis dinner, "If you'll come to Denison, you'll be near enough home to see your girl friend whenever you want to, and we'll even build a special track for you" Retorted Crisler, principal speaker for the affair "Better still, Gene, come to Michigan and we'll give you a special-built girl friend"

BUT THE BALL CAME IN JUST TOO LATE. OHIO TRAPSHOOTERS POINT FOR COMEBACK

By The United Press

DAYTON, June 11 — Ohio sportsmen pointed for a comeback today after trapshooters from other states virtually monopolized honors in the opening rounds of the 42nd annual Ohio State Trapshooting association tournament at nearby Vandalia

The only Ohioan to hold undisputed lead in one of the four classes at the end of the first regular session of the shoot yesterday was James M Waitman Jr., of Brookville, who smashed 193 out of 200 16-yard target to head the Class C shooters

A total of 249 marksmen from 13 states banged away at targets during the day, firing 49,700 shells

As the state classic entered the second day, out-of-state gunners led two of the classes, tied for the lead in a third and were up among the leaders in the fourth.

Robert H Conrad, of Sturgeon, Mich., smashed 193 out of 200 to lead the Class D field, while Elmer Harter of Richmond, Ind., and J T Jones of Detroit tied for Class B honors with 195 hits.

Four shooters, including three Ohioans, were tied for the lead in the Class A event. They were P. O. Harbage of West Jefferson; Fred D Waldock of Sandusky; Roy Davidson of Middletown, and Karl Maust of Detroit.

Cubs To Meet Braves in Twin Bill at Richmond Tonight

Special to The Star

RICHMOND, Ind., June 11—Lew Bolser's Marion Cubs bumped into the Richmond Braves when they were due to win and the result was an 8-3 triumph for the Hoosier club here Thursday night. The win snapped a seven-game losing streak for the Braves.

A doubleheader had been scheduled but was changed to one game late in the afternoon by mutual agreement of both managers. A twin bill will be played tonight.

Bolser, hard up for pitching at the moment, was sure of only Jim Edgar (2-1), a righthander, for one of the affairs.

Righty Ray Peet was the loser Thursday night, his third loss with four wins He went the distance, giving up nine hits, fanning three and walking seven.

Richmond did most of its damage with clusters of runs, getting three in the third and four in the sixth.

Marion scored twice in the fourth and added one more in the fifth which tied the count at 3-3 at the time. The two scored on a base on balls to second baseman Gene Bobzean and singles by third baseman Don Schmitt and Peet, along with an outfield fumble

The third run scored on a one-bagger by shortstop Dale Schnepf and a triple by left fielder Bill Bolduc Bolduc was cut down on an infield grounder and an ensuing single by Bobzean was wasted

Bobzean, hitting well over 300, garnered a three-for-three night and Schmitt collected two for three

Wildness by Peet figured in both of Richmond's big innings He walked two in the third as three scored and walked four in the sixth as four tallied.

Included among Richmond's nine blows were triples by outfielders Jake Richards and Walt Dobkins, both newcomers to the Hoosier squad.

LEADERS WHIPPED IN 0-1 LEAGUE

Lima Tops Muncie, 7-6; Yanks Nip Springfield, 6-5.

By The Associated Press

You can't tell the first division from the second division clubs in the sprightly Ohio-Indiana baseball league these days without a program.

On any given night the second division clubs are likely to wreak the stuffing out of the leaders. Take last night, for instance.

Only Zanesville of the first division teams manage to stave off defeat. The Dodgers blanked Portsmouth, 5-0 Otherwise, the results read like this

The seventh-place Lima Terriers topped second-place Muncie, 7-6 The sixth-place Newark Yankees still on the up-surge, nipped Springfield's league-leading Giants, 6-5, and last-place Richmond whipped Marion's fourth-place Cubs, 8-3

Tony Zale Charts Fighting Future After Regaining Middleweight Crown

By The Associated Press

NEWARK, N J. June 11—The champion who came back, Tony Zale, charted a fighting future today over the prostrate form of Rocky Graziano

Zale, the underdog, regained the world's middleweight title by knocking out Graziano, just as he predicted he would, in the third round of their third encounter

Although 34 Zale immediately proclaimed he would not retire He offered to fight all comers and declared

"I feel like I'm going the other way again—back to youth"

Marcel Cerdan of France was the other boxer mentioned as Zale's probable next opponent, providing Cerdan takes back the European title from Cyrille Delannoit of Belgium July 10

Both of the previous fights between the poised silent Zale and the rough and rugged Graziano went six rounds, but Zale needed only half that last night He floored Graziano after less than a minute of the first round, then lost the second when Rocky came surging back

But in the third Zale was absolute master He downed Graziano for the count of seven twice had him hanging on the ropes, and ended matters with a tremendous left to the head after 1:08 minutes. In between all this punishment Graziano kept on swinging

The crowd numbered 21,497 in Ruppert stadium, paid a gross of $335,646 which was brought to $405,646 by $45,000 for radio and $25,000 for movie rights Television was banned by the promoters

Zale weighed 158½ and Graziano 158½ for the match, set to go 15 rounds

Graziano was assured a purse of $120,000 and Zale $80,000 Graziano, whose real name is Rocco Silvio Barbella, comes from Brooklyn Zale born Anthony Florian Zaleski, is from Gary Ind

Graziano was numbed, bruised and baffled after he was revived and taken to his dressing room He received a concussion and for a time his reflexes were gone

However, he was pronounced "absolutely okay" early today by his manager Irving Cohen

Graziano said he never got over the first punch which Zale landed—a left to the temple

"I never even remembered the last round,' he said

Sain Pitches Braves into League's 2nd Place, Beating Cards, 10-2

Boston Only Half Game Behind Leading Giants in Tight Race

By The Associated Press

Johnny Sain and Warren Spahn once again are being called the Mr Right and Mr Left of the Boston Braves' pitching staff

Sain and Spahn each won 21 games for the Braves in 1947 and the National league pennant hopes of the Braves hinge on their duplicating that feat this year.

Both, however, got off to poor starts Each won only one game out of his first three contests

Sain, the righthander pitched the Braves into second place last night by beating the St Louis Cardinals, 10-2, in a night game at St. Louis

5th Straight Win

It was the Braves fifth straight victory and second in a row over the Cardinals Spahn the lefthander stopped the Red Birds, 11-3, Wednesday night for his fifth win and fourth in his last six starts He was knocked out once during this skein but wasn't charged with the loss.

The Braves are only a half game behind the first place New York Giants and two percentage points ahead of the Cards and Pittsburgh Pirates who are tied for third place

The Giants were beaten, 6-4 by the last place Cubs in a day game at Chicago while the Pirates turned back the Brooklyn Dodgers 4-1 in a night contest at Pittsburgh

The American league's front-running Cleveland Indians took a 15-7 pounding from the Red Sox in a day game at Boston The loss ended a five-game Cleveland winning streak and cut their margin to three games over the New York Yankees and Philadelphia Athletics

Enjoy Big Inning

The Athletics enjoyed a big inning in trouncing the Detroit Tigers, 10-4 Philadelphia pushed seven runners home in the fourth inning

Philadelphia now trails the second place Yanks by four percentage points The Yanks' scheduled game with the Chicago White Sox in New York was postponed because of rain

The Washington Senators triumphed 5-4 over the St Louis Browns in a night game at Washington when Frank Biscan walked Mark Christman with the bases loaded and one out in the ninth to force in the deciding run

The Cincinnati Reds and the Philadelphia Phillies were idle.

Universal Cooler shut out Fairfield last night in industrial league No. 1 softball 8-0 behind the one-hit pitching of Paul Kunkle

For the second time this year Kunkle was on the way to a no-hit performance, only to be denied in the late innings Fairfield's Shaffer was the spoiler on this occasion with the only good blow and American of Huber up the other The Universal line-up got to pitcher Lumberson for six safeties.

Commercial trampled Pollak 7-3, and Huber came from behind to down M.P.S., 4-3, in other league games Commercial led all the way in dropping Pollak as they gathered a single run in the first and four in the second The second inning tallies came on three walks, an error and two hits. Huber and M P S went into an extra inning to settle a 3-3 deadlock at the end of regular play Miley, Huber shortstop, provided the winning blow in the top of the eighth in a dramatic finish to a hard fought ball game as he connected for the circuit blow Millner totaled eight strikeouts for Huber pitching hitless ball the last five innings. INDIANS INVADE YANKEE STADIUM

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK June 11 The Cleveland Indians, slightly groggy from a 15 to 7 shellacking administered by the Boston Red Sox yesterday invade Yankee stadium tonight for the opener of an important four-game series with the Bronx Bombers

Going in with a three-game advantage over the New Yorkers Manager Lou Boudreau will send his ace Bob Lemon, to the hill for the night game, which is expected to attract a crowd of more than 60,000 The Yankees are the only team Lemon has not beaten in fashioning an 8-3 record They hold one decision over him

Manager Bucky Harris of the defending world champions probably will start Vic Raschi, sophomore right hander who has won six straight games, two by shutouts

Feller had a rough afternoon against the Red Sox at Boston yesterday He was shelled from the mound by an eight-run Boston uprising in the third The big blow was a three-run homer by Bobby Doerr

The Indians' erstwhile fireballer now has won five and lost five, two more losses than any other Cleveland hurler

Bill Kennedy came to Feller's rescue in the third, gave up two more runs in that inning and three in the fourth before being relieved by Muncrief

Steve Gromek entered the massacre in the fifth and in the following inning gave up three more runs, two of them on a circuit clout by Dominic DiMaggio Ed Klieman pitched the last two innings and kept the Bosox scoreless

BENDER TO LEAD CHEERS FOR TAFT

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 10 — Chunky Rep George Bender of Ohio will be leading the cheering when Sen Taft's name goes before the Republican national convention week after next.

Bender, in charge of the Taft demonstration, will be whooping it up with special Taft lyrics set to the tune of "Four Leaf Clover."

The song and the clover itself, will keynote the Taft convention drive.

Bender, Ohio's congressman at large, is father to the thought.

He thought of the clover emblem—which will be distributed by the thousands at convention hall.

The four-leaf symbol, he says, stands for the four letters in Taft's name as well as the four letters in the name of his native Ohio.

And, Bender says, it will represent, too, the traditional luck attributed to the clover.

Convention cheer leader will not be a new role to Bender, a former choir singer and leader, who frequently mixes politics with song.

He led the demonstration for Taft in 1940 when Wendell Willkie topped the nomination from Taft and in 1944 for Ohio's John Bricker who became the GOP candidate for vice president.

Frequently in the midst of a political address, he'll say something like "I'm getting tired of hearing myself talk. How about all of us singing." And he'll launch into "Battle Hymn of the Republic" or some similar familiar tune.

Bender now 51 has been in politics since as a boy orator in West Commerce High school Cleveland he talked to Teddy Roosevelt and got from him an admission he would run in 1912.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY

RICHARD STRAUSS, born June 11, 1864, could read music before he could read words. Son of the noted hornist, Franz Strauss, a leading enemy of Richard Wagner, Richard Strauss later was "converted" to Wagner music. He saw his own work make a storm center, but lived to see his innovations become commonplace. Praised by Hitler, he later broke with the Nazis and has been judged innocent by a denazification court.

By WALTER KIERNAN

The President's charge of inactivity in congress brought quick action . . The house passed 136 bills in three hours and even knew what some of them were.

• • •

Congress passed an anti-nematode bill and three committees for "civil rights for nematodes" were organized before anyone learned that nematodes are potato worms.

• • •

Plans for a protest march on Washington were then suspended until the nematodes can prove they can deliver the vote.

• • •

But action on the nematode peril was just in time . . We are faced with another potato surplus and there was danger the nematodes might beat the government to destroying the crop.

• • •

Under the law the government keeps the price of potatoes up while bewailing the fact that food prices do not come down . . . This is what is known as the "ever-normal-lunacy" policy.
